Notes:

1. Withholding total for March 2007 was impacted by payment timing - the payment was made on March 31 but because the 31st fell on a weekend, the payment was not recorded until April. Hence, March of last year is artificially low, making the growth rates for individual income tax and total GPR taxes this year appear larger. Adjusting for the late posting, individual income taxes increased 8.0% in March, and the year-to-date increase is 3.0%. Total GPR collections, after the adjustment, are 1.3% for March and 2.3% YTD.
2. March sales tax collections reflect February sales. Adjusting for the extra "leap year" day, the March increase in the sales tax collections is 0.5%.
3. All data are preliminary and unaudited.
